JOIN THE SNIA NETWORKING STORAGE FORUM (NSF)

The SNIA Networking Storage Forum drives the broad adoption and awareness of storage networking solutions. This expert community covers topics as diverse as block (FC, iSCSI, NVMe-oF), file (SMB, NFS), object network storage, as well as Virtualized and Hyperconverged solutions...and more.

We accomplish our mission by delivering webcasts, publishing white papers and articles in trade journals, actively blogging, and leveraging social media to promote networked storage.

THE NSF MISSION AND CHARTER

The NSF is committed to providing vendor-neutral education on the advantages and adoption of networking storage technologies with a focus on:

- Promoting networked storage solutions, relevant standards and the implementation of these standards
- Highlighting the value of storage networking to the industry and its customers
- Educating vendors, end users, and system integrators about storage systems, networking, and standards
- Advocating customer needs and reflecting user concerns back into the industry standards development process
